HOOVER FOR COMMISSION

Suggestion of Trade
Accord With Paris
Is Disclosed.

Texts of the United States replies to Great Britain, France and Belgium on the debts situation appear on Page 5.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The texts of the notes in which President Hoover called upon foreign debtor nations of the United States to make their December 15 payments on account of war debts were made public last night by Secretary Stimson.

Replies were handed the British, French and Belgian Ambassadors to their formal notes requesting continuation of the Hoover moratorium past December 15 and a general reconsideration of the whole debt question.

Additional delay on the debt payments was denied in the replies and immediate payment was cited as a necessary preliminary to any further conversations on the subject.

Replies Drafted by Stimson.

The American diplomatic replies were all drafted by Secretary Stimson, himself, shortly after the conference which President Hoover held with congressional leaders at the White House last Wednesday. They embodied the definite congressional reaction to the proposals which the President made in the congressional leaders on that date.

Four of the points outlined in the notes are in complete harmony with the debt statement of President-elect Roosevelt, although there is a sharp difference between him and the President on the method to be employed in dealing with the debts.

Gov. Roosevelt believes that existing diplomatic channels are adequate for the task, while President Hoover is represented in the notes as favoring the re-creation of the World War Foreign Debt Commission.

Variation in British Note.

Secretary Stimson has embodied practically identical ideas in the three notes. The British note is couched in a more amiable tone probably because the rate of interest which Great Britain is paying is almost twice that paid by France and Italy and also because the British debt funding arrangements diminished her debt, by slightly less than 30 per cent while the French debt was reduced 33 per cent and the Italian almost 75 per cent. The British pay a rate of interest that is calculated by Treasury officials at 3.308 per cent while the

Chief and Police
Force Arrested

Illinois Sheriff Releases
Jailed Deputy; Outcome of Mine Dispute.

Kincaid, Ill., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Deputies aided by a National Guard company today arrested the entire Kincaid police force, and liberated from the Kincaid Jail one of their own number, Deputy Sheriff Max Klenn.

Police Chief Albert Mattoni declined to say who had jailed the deputy, but withstood the attempt to free him, until deputies and troops opened the jail and released Klenn.

The chief and four of his assistants were arrested on charges of false arrest and taken to Taylorville. The sheriff charged that the police force had gone to a formidable size since the strike at Kincaid mine failed to stop work. He said the police force was composed of members or sympathizers of the Progressive Miners, who are opposing employment of United Mine Workers in the Kincaid mine.

Canada Signs Contract
With Soviet Oil Trust

Moscow, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—The Tass News Agency announced today that the Soviet oil trust has concluded a new contract with Canada for the sale of 120,000 metric tons of oil during 1933 for $1,500,000. (One metric ton is approximately 2,205 pounds.)

The announcement said the trust had sold 55,000 metric tons of oil products to Canada during 1932.

Rainey Lost

Tells of Investing $7,500
in Firm Charged With Fraud.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic floor leader of the House, went into court today and told how he was among those who invested in the Southern Cities Supply Corporation, which the Government charges with using the mails to defraud.

In telling how he had invested $7,500 on the promise of quick profits, Rainey said:

"The proposition was so appealing to me that I fell for it very promptly."

The defendant, Lyan E. Wolfe, former accountant to the Pulitzer estate; Murray H. Old, stock sales promoter, and the Southern Cities Supply Corporation are charged with obtaining $1,700,000 from investors.

In September, at their first trial, the jury disagreed after deliberating 27 hours.

Rainey, called by the prosecution, said that early in 1928 a salesman telephoned to him in Washington.

CABINET VOTES HUGE ARMS SUM IN TOKYO

Military Fund Double of Last Year as Budget Passes;
Financiers Protest.

Tokyo, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Over the protests of influential financial interests, the Japanese cabinet today approved a budget which, as a result of the extraordinary demands of the army and navy, chiefly in connection with Manchuria, is the largest in the history of Japan.

The total expenditure for the year beginning April 1, 1933, will be 2,238,000,000 yen—$447,800,000. The budget involves a deficit of 897,000,000 yen—$179,400,000—for which bonds must be issued as the minister of finance, Koriyama Takahashi, refused to increase taxation.

Baron Seinozuke Goh, president of the Japan Chamber of Commerce, declared before the new budget was made public that the government policy of depending on bond issues was greatly increasing the national debt and was threatening currency inflation and a further decline in the yen, leading toward a condition similar to Germany's postwar collapse.

The army gets 448,000,000 yen—$89,600,000—in the new budget, and the navy 378,000,000 yen—$75,600,000. In the last normal year, 1930-31, the army appropriation was 184,000,000 yen—$36,800,000 and the navy received 221,000,000 yen—$44,200,000.

Baron Goh's warning against the bonding policy was delivered at a

Railroads Start New Fight Against Excess Profit Law

Action Taken in Court Again to Escape Huge Payments to U. S. Under Fixed Maximum Earnings; Depression Losses to Be Stressed.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.)

Danville, Ill., Nov. 25.—A new effort of American railroads to escape paying the Government's bill for profits in excess of 6 per cent was started today in Federal court.

Upon the ultimate verdict of the courts there probably rests the disposition of nearly $360,000,000 in excess earnings of 450 railroads, claimed by the Federal Treasury under the recapture clause of the transportation act of 1920.

ROBBERS LEAVE DEATH NOTE IN OFFICE OF FIRM

Yeggmen Also Order $500
by Manager.

HOME OF SENATOR
FOUND RANSACKED

Check on Losses at Moses'
Apartment Awaits His Return to Capital.

Two notes, one threatening death and the other demanding $500, were found by Charles E. Floeckher, manager of the H. P. Pillsbury Flour Co., 58 H street northeast, yesterday morning when he opened his office.

The notes were evidently left by burglars, who had failed in an attempt to break into the safes of the company. Mr. Floeckher said the combinations of two safes, one in an office on the ground floor and the other on the second floor, were battered. Files in both offices also were ransacked, but apparently nothing was taken.

Mr. Floeckher declared the note saying, "You will be killed" was pinned to a blotter on his desk, and the other saying, "Leave $500 at the door tonight" was on the desk. Both notes were printed in ink, evidently with a pen found in the office.

Entered Through Skylight.

The burglars entered the offices through a skylight over a grain elevator, and apparently left the same way.

It is believed they were after money, but Mr. Floeckher said the safes contained very little cash, being used mostly for the keeping of valuable papers. Although officials of the company and police believed the robbers failed completely in their attempt to break open the safes, but since the combinations were smashed they could not be opened, and Mr. Floeckher pointed out that there was a possibility that the robbers were experts and had merely jammed the combinations after looting them.

Mr. Floeckher said they were disregarding the notes. He pointed out that the note demanding the $500 merely said it should be left "at the door," and there are several doors around the place.

Senator's Apartment Looted.

Police were keeping a close lookout last night around the company's premises.

The apartment of Senator George H. Moses, New Hampshire, at 1901 Wyoming avenue northwest, was found ransacked yesterday by a maid, Miss Sadie Schuler, when she went to prepare the apartment for the return of the senator and Mrs. Moses.

Senator Moses has been away since August 15 and the burglary occurred

Illinois Again Will Ask
R. F. C. Loan for Relief

Chicago, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Illinois again will seek a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for relief needs. Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., head of the Illinois emergency relief commission, and other leaders will go to Washington and likely will appear before the R. F. C. Tuesday to seek the State's second loan.

A definite amount for the proposed loan has not been set yet, Ryerson said, but he pointed out that the commission's funds are nearly exhausted and that $6,500,000 will be needed to carry on its work through December.

Wife of Calles Dies; Mexico in Mourning

Former President Knew
U. S. Operation Could Not Save Her.

Mexico, City, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Senora Leonor Llorente de Calles, wife of former President Plutarco Elias Calles, who is known as the "Iron Man" of Mexico, died here today. She was 30 years of age.

Her death was caused by a brain tumor which kept her bedfast for many months. She had been in a coma the greater part of this week and several times her family and doctors thought she was dying.

Hundreds of messages of consolation and floral wreaths poured into the Calles home soon after the news spread. Arthur Bliss Lane, counsellor of the American Embassy, called at the home with an official letter of condolence and cards from the embassy staff. The Chamber of Deputies has gone into three days' mourning.

The funeral will be held tomorrow, Boston, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Senora de Calles, who died in Mexico City today, left Boston last July flushed with the hope that sound health soon would be hers.

But Gen. Calles carried in his heart the knowledge that it was only a matter of time before his beautiful wife would die.

INSULL'S FIRM HELD TUMULTY'S ACCOUNT

Unit Took Over $140,000 in Brokerage Dealings After Market Crash.

Chicago, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—An auditor's account of the defunct Insull, Son & Co., a unit in Samuel Insull's pyramid of investment concerns, was filed in bankruptcy proceedings today, showing that the company took over a $140,000 brokerage account of Joseph P. Tumulty, Washington lawyer and former Secretary to President Woodrow Wilson, less than four months after the 1929 market crash.

Securities in the account, the report stated, were principally bank stocks.

The report said:

"On February 10, 1930, the company (Insull, Son & Co.) paid $140,000 to Clement, Curtis & Co. for the account of Mr. Joseph P. Tumulty, a Washington (D. C.) attorney."

The company received in the purchase 428 shares of National City Bank of New York, 80 shares of the District National Bank of Wash-

Seven Die as Boats Sink

Woman Swims to Safety
After Yawl Founders;
Husband Perishes.

Stonington, Conn., Nov. 25 (U.P.)—Mrs. Howard Lee, 31, mother of two children, was rescued from death today when fishermen found her, almost unconscious, clinging to a buoy after her husband and a companion drowned when their 14-foot yawl sank.

Both Lee, a novelist, and A. E. Merriam, 45, an artist who maintained a home both in New York City and Stonington, drowned when the little craft, equipped with a tiny sail, sank off the east breakwater of Stonington harbor in Long Island Sound.

Mrs. Lee swam more than a mile through icy water to reach the buoy, known as "Rhodes Folly." It marks the dividing line between the States of New York, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The woman struggled upward to the yawl buoy, draped herself across it, and clung there, it is believed for almost two hours, until taken off by passing fishermen who sighted her. The fishermen brought her ashore here.

CIVIC GROUPS PLEDGE AID TO BALK INVASION

Marchers Get Warnings of Organizations With 100,000 Members.

HUNGER GROUP PLANS
DEMANDS ON BROWN

To Call for Hands-Off Policy on Alms Solicitors Today;
'Defense' Is Pushed.

The united civic and business organizations of the Capital, having aggregate membership rolls of nearly 100,000, last night issued a stern warning against the "hunger marchers" that "they can not and will not be given free food and lodging in the city."

A resolution, voicing this stand, was adopted by the Board of Trade, the Federation of Citizens Associations, the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, the Real Estate Board and the District of Columbia Medical Society. It was made public last night.

The resolution directed the officers of the organizations to take all possible means of informing the "hunger marchers" of the attitude of the civic groups with respect to the impending visit of the marchers.

Brown to Get Demands.

The associations also pledged their support to the civil authorities in "warning such persons (the marchers) not to come to Washington unless they are financially able to maintain themselves."

The announcement of the stand of the civic groups came simultaneously with a statement from the headquarters of the hunger marchers that a delegation of hunger marchers this morning will call on Mr. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, to "demand hands off workers soliciting aid to feed and house the hunger marchers" during their stay in Washington.

The announcement followed conviction in Police Court yesterday morning of four purported hunger marchers on charges of soliciting alms in connection with a drive to finance the stay of the hunger army headed here. Suspended sentences were meted out in Police Court to the three women and one man arrested on such charges the day before Thanksgiving.

Plan for Keeping Order.

Those given suspended sentences of $10 fine were Amelia Shelton, 19; L. H. Ferguson, 34; Mrs. Anna Pearl-meter, 36, and Mrs. Lena Levine.

Four Army Fliers Miss Live Wire Death in Fog

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 25 (U.P.)—Blinded by fog and rain, two Army planes from San Antonio, Tex., narrowly escaped disaster near here tonight when one of the planes knocked a limb from a tree and barely righted itself while making a forced landing.

The pilots were Lieuts. Darby, Bryd, Novate and Epickiemler, all of Brooks Field.

"We almost hit the high-tension wires strung across the Mississippi River," Lieut. Darby said. "We only missed them by about 5 feet. We did not see them until we were right on them. Our squadron has lost three fliers recently who flew into power wires and were burned to death. That was the only thing that scared us."

Similar Offerings Urged

A little boy, hazen-haired and blue-eyed, reclining in the possession of his first trousers, woke up on Christmas Day 93 years ago in the White House to find that Santa Claus had found his way down the big chimney of the Executive Mansion and left his heart's desire, an electric railroad, equipped and ready to run.

The lad was Quentin Roosevelt, the youngest son of President Theodore Roosevelt, the pride and pet of his family and the idol of the White House attaches. His boyish exploits there are cherished to this day.

In far-away France, Quentin Roosevelt, who poured out the "rich red wine of youth" in the World War and died like an eagle, fighting the foe in the air, sleeps beneath the benediction of the brave and a simple monument bearing a line from Shelley's

HOUSE REPEAL VOTE PLANNED FOR FIRST DAY

Flier Shot

Smith Reynolds' Cousin Is Found Wounded in Room, Alone.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Robert C. Critz, a first cousin of the late Z. Smith Reynolds, was shot through the head and seriously wounded in the bathroom of his home here tonight.

Relatives and authorities were uncommunicative, the former saying they did not know whether the 35-year-old tobacco buyer and amateur aviator was "accidentally shot or intentionally shot."

Critz, who is married and has one child, was reported to have been alone in the bathroom when a shot was heard. He did not lose consciousness immediately, but refused to make any statement after being taken to a hospital.

Critz's mother was a sister of the late R. J. Reynolds, tobacco magnate, who died several years ago leaving an estate now estimated at $100,000,000 to his four children.

Smith Reynolds was fatally shot at the family home here last July 6 after

FARM ALLOTMENT PLAN FACES DELAY

Proposal Roosevelt Favors
Due to Be Sidetracked for Credit Relief.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Although President-elect Roosevelt has expressed a sympathetic attitude toward the domestic allotment plan for the control of agricultural production, farm leaders acknowledged yesterday that there appeared little probability of such legislation during the short session of Congress this winter.

Democratic members of the House are prepared to press for action on this newest wrinkle in farm relief immediately after the session begins on December 5, but the failure of the principal farm organizations to unite behind the scheme is expected to throw the whole question over to the first session of the Roosevelt Congress next year.

Meanwhile, efforts are to be made by the leading agricultural organizations in the short session to secure new forms of emergency credit relief applicable directly to the farm mortgage situation.

Coinciding with these developments on Capitol Hill yesterday, Roosevelt announced at Warm Springs, Ga., that he would confer with members of the House agricultural committee there next week on the details of the Democratic farm program in the short session. While this announcement made no specific mention of any particular plan to be advanced by the Democratic House committee members invited to attend indicated the

Garner and Snell
Map Program
At Parley.

RULES WOULD BE SUSPENDED

G. O. P. Leader Avers
Move Is Wanted
by People.

(Associated Press.)

A plan for an early vote on a resolution to repeal the eighteenth amendment, probably on the first day of the short session, has been devised by leaders of both parties in the House.

The plan calls for Speaker Garner to recognize a member of the House who would ask suspension of the rules for a vote on a resolution calling for outright repeal.

Speaker Garner and Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, discussed the program yesterday. Snell earlier said that "the people can't get what they want without repeal."

Parley Set Today.

The party leaders plan to confer today with other colleagues on the proposal.

Under the rules of the House, Speaker Garner has the right to recognize any member to suspend the rules, and adopt a resolution. It requires a two-thirds vote to adopt a resolution for an amendment to the Constitution.

In possible furtherance of this plan, Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, has written to party members asking them to be present on the opening day for important business. Ordinarily, the first day of a short session is devoted only to routine.

Suggested by Calendar.

The calendar made the suggestion possible. Under House rules, a bill can be taken up under suspension only on the first and third Mondays of each month. December 5 is the first Monday in the month. If Garner should recognize a member to move passage of a repeal amendment, debate would be limited to 40 minutes.

Meanwhile, a controversy was precipitated by a proposal from Senator Hastings (Republican), Delaware, long a friend of prohibition, that national enforcement be withdrawn from States which do not cooperate in carrying out the prohibition laws. Hastings said he would not support beer and wine legislation.

Beer Bill Being Drafted.

Speaker Garner expressed the "hope and belief" the House will pass a beer bill by January 1. Preparation of a preliminary draft of the beer bill was ordered and hearings are to be opened December 7.

Chairman Smoot, of the Senate finance committee, said the legislation he would not provide enough revenue without additional taxes and predicted a general revenue bill would have to be enacted.

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, a leading prohibitionist, yesterday said that "orderly procedure" would require consideration of prohibition repeal before proposals for legalizing beer. He said he is opposed to both.

"A decent respect for the old principles of the Constitution would suggest that we take up repeal first," Borah said.

Hastings' proposal to withdraw Federal enforcement from States that

CHILDREN HSA MARCH IN MICHIGAN

Gov. Brucker Scores Move
When Leader Admits
Reds Inspired It.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—A group of 30 children, ranging in age from 2 to 15 years, marched to the State Capitol today to demand food from Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker.

Accompanied by Thomas Byrd, older member of the group, the children presented the governor with demands for food, clothing, shelter, maintenance of children not employed, and other demands. Three or four mothers accompanied the group of marchers, and they came from scattered cities in the State.

The governor informed the children that the State "is doing all in its power to bring relief," and that Byrd declared he was identified with Communist activities, the governor denounced the movement, declaring to the children that "the Communists are presenting their demands through your poor little bodies."

Lansing police escorted the children to the Capitol and stood by as they began the return journey to their homes.

Swimming Mail Man to Quit Job

Eleven Years of Keeping
Company With Sharks
Is Ended.

Honolulu, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—G. S. Ramsay is quitting his job as the swimming mail man of the South Seas.

For eleven years he says his job has been to swim out to ships from the island of Niuafoou, in the Tonga group, through surf too rough for a boat to stand, and tow back mail for the islanders. He was paid a salary while sharks swam alongside.

His "route" was about a mile. Swells beat against the rock shores of the island with such force, explained, that it was "impossible" to take out or bring back any sort of a craft. Arriving today aboard the liner Niagara, Ramsay said he was on his way to Vista, Calif., to raise chickens.

Ramsay, a slightly built 40-year-old Australian, was asked if he had not feared the sharks while swimming to and from the mail ships.

"They always seemed playful," he said. "They never molested me."

Born in Halifax
74 Years Ago.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—A half-century's career in American journalism ended early today with the death of Herbert F. Gunnison, of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

Mr. Gunnison, who was born in Halifax, N. S., Canada, was the son of a Universalist minister, who soon after the newspaperman's birth moved to New England. At St. Lawrence University, from which he was graduated in 1880, Gunnison earned part of his expenses as a printer.

Then he got his first job as a reporter on the Brooklyn Times, but within two years he had joined the staff of the Eagle, soon becoming the statehouse correspondent at Albany.

Against the commissary advance guard of the hunger march was made known, authorities at the Capitol indicated that advice for breaking up disturbances had been provided by the army and navy.

Darkness Prevented Him From Getting Good Look at Gunman.

Ray Newman, of 3646 Prospect avenue northwest, operator of a Washington, Virginia and Maryland Coach Co. bus, was held up and robbed of $15 by a bandit yesterday in Arlington County, Va., last night.

According to Newman, he was sitting in his bus at the Virginia terminal when the bandit approached and forced him out of his vehicle and toward the road about a hundred yards, where he searched him and took $15. Newman said he saw an automobile waiting nearby with a man sitting at the wheel, apparently the bandit's companion.

Four-Year-Old Girl Hurt When Struck by Bus

Struck down by a Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus while playing in the street near her home yesterday afternoon, 4-year-old Betty Lou Jacobs, daughter of Commander William T. Jacobs, U. S. N., was being taken to a hospital at Providence Hospital.

The child was treated by a private physician, who diagnosed her injuries as a possible fracture of the skull and multiple bruises about the body. She was later taken to Providence Hospital.

Youth Slashed in Face By Unknown Assailant

William G. Cappler, 18, was slashed in the face with a knife last night while walking near his home at 823 C street southeast. He was treated at Casualty Hospital.

After slashing him, Cappler said his assailant, whom he described as a man about 25 years old, ran down an alley.

Honduran Garrison Deserts As Rebel Movement Grows

Complications Are Added by Report Indians Are Ready to Go on Warpath; Government
Commanders All Funds for War.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—The garrison at Comayagua abandoned its barracks last night taking all arms with it and the government immediately issued a decree commanding all government funds to be used for war purposes exclusively.

The rebel movement, which was the outgrowth of the recent presidential election, became more complicated today when Curupen Indians were reported by Gen. Julian Oyuela ready to go on the warpath. Gen. Oyuela, who is the government chief of operations in the southern zone, reported that the Indians already were concentrating in the southern section of the Tegucigalpa district.

PLAN FOR FARM ALLOTMENT FACES SHORT SESSION DELAY

The formal expression of the Farm Bureau Federation will be made at a meeting of regional officers at Chicago December 5, 6 and 7.

Thus far the National Farmers Union, the only farm group in opposition to the allotment plan, has been behind the domestic allotment plan, but many college professors also have expressed themselves as in favor of the scheme. Some of the most vigorous opponents of the plan have characterized it as a method of bureaucratic control even more dangerous and degrading than the collective farming program of the Soviet Union.

House Link to Study Plan.
Representative Marvin Jones, of Mississippi, test chairman of the House committee on agriculture, said yesterday he planned to call the committee together early in the session. He also has been advocated by the Farmer-Labor party in the Northwest, would receive earnest consideration, Mr. Jones added.

At the same time Chairman McNary, of the Senate agriculture committee, indicated a disposition to pass once more for the three-way plan reported out last session. This bill would extend blanket authority to the Federal Farm Board to apply the equalization fee, the export duty, the production quota to each individual farmer, specifying so many acres of wheat, so many acres of corn, so many of cotton, etc. These quotas, however, would be set by the Federal Farm Board, which has no constitutional authority for their enforcement.

Advocates of this plan estimate that approximately 25,000 persons would be added to the Federal payroll through the creation of the innumerable allotment committees. They contend, however, that this direct method of bureaucratic control, as it does, right down to the individual farmer, offers the only effective method to pinch in agricultural production to the needs of the domestic market. In theory, the domestic allotment plan is calculated to place American agricultural production permanently on a basis of American needs.

Opponents of the plan are prepared to resist even its serious consideration in the House or Senate committees, first on the ground that the addition of thousands of new supervisors to allotment checkers to the Federal payroll would completely undermine all hopes for balancing the budget, and secondly on the ground that the present market prices for farm products soon will achieve a better balance between production and domestic needs without recourse to elaborate and costly bureaucratic machinery.

PRESIDENTIAL CABINET SEEN FOR GERMANY

Leaders in Reichstag Inform Hindenburg They Can Not Agree on Chancellor.

Berlin, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Appointment of another "presidential" cabinet possible only to the president apparently a likelihood tonight after Reichstag party leaders reported to President von Hindenburg that they could not agree on a chancellor.

Mr. Ludwig Kaas, leader of the Catholic Center Party, informed the president during the day that Adolf
Hitler's National Socialists and Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalist Party would not agree to a coalition government.

Mr. Kaas had been commissioned by the president to try his hand at the formation of a government which could find support in the Reichstag.
Hitler previously had declined to assume the chancellorship himself.

Hitler left an interview with the monarch with a smile on his face and to questions he replied: "I have always been an optimist and I still am." "I appeared very tired as he hurried to his apartment."

The Center leader conferred at length today with Hitler, whose followers in the Reichstag make them extremely important; Hugenberg, Edward Dingeldey, of the People's party, and Hugo Schaefer, minister of labor in the recent Von Papen government.

Mr. Kaas also saw several members of the Social Democratic party who he decided that a coalition was impossible.

Dr. Kaas said the Center party was willing to work with others in getting a parliamentary majority, but he could not convince Hitler and Hug-enberg. He told President Hindenburg that Hitler's Reichstag troops would vote against any chancellor who is not a Nazi.

There were indications in official quarters that the president might await the return from Geneva of Con-stantin von Neurath, foreign minister in the Von Papen government, who is acting foreign minister in Geneva, before he decided upon the course he would pursue.

Henry B. Simpson Dies in 81st Year

Veteran Boatman Rowed Against Brown Crew
in 1871 Race.

At the age of 80 years, Henry Bell Simpson, old college athlete and veteran boatman, died today. A heart attack was believed to have been the cause of death, which came suddenly just after he had lunched at his home in a Georgetown rooming house.

Mr. Simpson was born in Mississippi on April 29, 1851, and was a member of the 1871 Massachusetts Agricultural College crew, which scored a decisive victory over a Brown shell in one of the thrilling races ever rowed on the Connecticut River. Not until 1920, however, were varsity letters to the 71 crew.

On the death of Mrs. Simpson, in 1926 the elderly boatman made his permanent home on the river until last August, when he moved to 3319 N. street, N. W., where he resided.

Walter B. Simpson, of 438 Eleventh street southwest.

JAPANESE OPPOSE LABOR VOTES DOWN NINE-POWER PARLEY 5-DAY AMENDMENT

Spokesman Says Washington Is Not Anxious to Join Oriental Conclave.

Tokyo (Saturday), Nov. 26 (A.P.)—A foreign office spokesman said today that Japan would reject any proposal at Geneva to transfer the Manchurian question from the League of Nations to a conference of signatories of the nine-power treaty of 1922, on the ground that the treaty no longer applies to Manchukuo.

"Our Geneva reports indicate that certain quarters are preparing to introduce such a proposal at the coming assembly of the League of Nations," the spokesman said. "We will reject it just as we will reject all attempts to find a formula to permit powers other than Japan, China and Manchukuo to participate in negotiations concerning Manchukuo's status."

The nine-power treaty covers relations between the powers and China. Manchuria by her own volition is no longer a part of China and therefore she is outside the treaty's applicability.

Comments on dispatches from Geneva which attributed the nine-power treaty proposals to quarters desirous of bringing the United States to the forefront in the Manchurian dispute, the spokesman said he did not believe Washington would care to support another conference dealing with China.

Geneva, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—The League of Nations Council was on the point tonight of referring the Manchurian question to the League Assembly for action, but delayed at the request of the Japanese, who wanted to obtain further instructions from Tokyo.

In Japanese quarters the opinion was expressed that when the council special session takes up the Tokyo spokesman will have received authority to acquiesce in referring the report to the assembly, at the same time entering Japan's protest against recognition of the competence of the assembly to deal with the Manchurian conflict.

Indications are that the assembly will be summoned into session December 5.

The Earl of Lytton, head of the league's investigating commission, addressed the council long enough today to announce that he and his colleagues did not wish to modify their report.

The commissioners had hoped to be discharged from their long labor, but they must remain until Monday. There is a possibility that they will be requested to present what is known as a "minority" report.

In a brief exchange of comment by Mr. Matsuda and Dr. Wellington Koo, for China, regarding the prospects for settlement, the Japanese delegate declared that recognition of the competence of the assembly to deal with the Manchurian conflict was the only possible basis for a Pacific agreement ending the dispute. Manchukuo is the state set up with Japanese help to rule over Manchuria.

Dr. Koo said he regretted he was unable to find "any trace of conciliation" in the statements of the Japanese representative. He added that the recognition of Manchukuo would be "entirely unacceptable to China."

MASSACRE CLAIM DENIED At Japanese Embassy

With regard to a Nanking government statement, dispatched from Shanghai Thursday, giving out the story of the massacre of 2,700 Chinese people, mostly women and children, by Japanese soldiers in Manchuria, near Mukden, the Japanese Embassy today announced it has received the statement and that the story is utterly unfounded; and that the story, which was originally carried by a Chinese newspaper in Shanghai on November 15 as a dispatch from the Japanese Embassy, was fabricated by Chang Sueh-lang for the purpose of propaganda on the eve of the opening of the league council.

Talks With Japan Opposed by China

Lytton Proposal to End
Manchurian Deadlock
Voted by Nanking.

Nanking, China, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Proposals advanced by the Lytton commission and others for direct negotiations with Japan, to find a solution for the Manchurian dispute are absolutely unacceptable to China, the government announced today.

The Lytton commission recommended an advisory conference between China and Japan, with the object of negotiating four separate instruments.

(1) A declaration by the Chinese government constituting a special administration for the three Manchurian provinces.

(2) A treaty between China and Japan dealing with Japanese interests.

(3) Another treaty of conciliation, arbitration, nonaggression and mutual assistance.

(4) A commercial treaty between the two countries.

Naval Situation Between France and Italy Key to Treaty Hope.

Geneva, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Members of the American delegation attending the disarmament conference here asserted tonight that Geneva was closer to a real disarmament treaty than ever before.

Negotiations to break the naval deadlock between France and Italy continued today in the greatest secrecy. The American delegation expressed the hope that the two countries could get together.

Norman Davis, American representative to Paris tonight to attend the disarmament conference, said that the Japanese had been very cooperative in the disarmament treaty.

Old, former Undersecretary of State, died suddenly. Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, left on the same train with Mr. Davis, who is expected to return here Tuesday after a short conference with Premier Herriot in Paris.

House Member Will Expose
'Propaganda' Aimed at World War Budget.

(Associated Press.)
Opponents of reductions in Federal benefits to veterans and their dependents have begun a campaign intended to keep a joint congressional committee from obtaining enactment of any sweeping cuts in veterans' allowances.

A tangible evidence of that campaign came yesterday in a statement by Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, issued just as Representative McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, was summoning the joint committee on veterans' legislation to its first meeting December 1.

Rankin, chairman of the House veterans' committee, a leading proponent of immediate bonus payment at the last session and a candidate for Speaker in the next Congress, said he reserved "the right to review any measure that is proposed by the joint committee affecting the disabled veterans of the World War, their widows and orphans."

"This wholesale abuse of World War veterans by interests or individuals who are themselves receiving enormous bounties, pensions or subsidies from the Government," Rankin said, "is being used largely as a smoke screen, which we propose to dissipate by bringing out the cold facts underlying their propaganda."

Rankin added that "there probably will be a fight over veterans' legislation in the coming session."

McDuffie's request for the December 1 meeting was sent to all the special committees of the House and Senate. It was a request for a critical moment in their history, the carriers still face a staggering debt to the Government if the recapture clause is sustained.

Senator Robinson Quits
As Arkansas Attorney

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Senator Joe T. Robinson announced his retirement today from the law firm he has headed for twelve years, to devote "my entire time to public duties."

Senator Robinson was the senior member of the firm of Robinson, House & Moses, but for a number of years has represented only the clients "who came to me and whose employment I accepted."

Former Guest of Reynolds Wed.
New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—James R. Shepherd and Mrs. William Vaughn, who were among the guests at the party which preceded the death of Mrs. Reynolds, were married yesterday. Mr. Stillwell was born in Syracuse, N. Y., and came to the Black Hills in 1879.

Duck Hunters Say Supply Abundant

Richmond, Va., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Duck hunters have been reporting a goodly supply of the wild fowl on most of the Virginia marshes, rivers and bays. But, they say, a few more wintery blasts are needed, especially in the Back Bay section.

Those reporting from the upper Potomac section say most hunters are getting the bag. In the lower river there are reported many blackheads. From the Eastern Shore section have come reports that there are more blackheads there than most hunters ever saw there before. The number of these ducks is reported to be fair on most of the rivers.

Those who have been to Back Bay during the season report there apparently is no increase in the number of the ducks there, but at least there is no decrease in comparison with last year. They added that the heavy winter weather is needed to get the canvasback and redhead duck shooting.

Governor Bryan Better
Following Heart Attack

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—H. B. Porterfield, secretary to Gov. Charles W. Bryan, issued a statement tonight saying that after an illness from pneumonia the governor suffered slightly from heart disease Wednesday, but that his condition was distinctly improved today.

The governor has been ill since he closed a successful campaign for reelection November 8.

Preacher Recants And Ban Is Lifted

Atlanta, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—A year's suspension on charges of "gross immorality and high unministerial conduct" was lifted today from the Rev. Robert G. Smith, once a critic of bishops and other fellow churchmen, and he was restored to active membership in the North Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He made a public apology, asked forgiveness and was reinstated by a thunderous shout of "aye."

The Rev. Mr. Smith had frequently criticized bishops and other leaders of the church for what he termed their political activities, but Bishop John M. Moore said the criticism had nothing to do with the suspension.

"What he said about politics and the bishops had nothing to do with his trial last year than what he might have said about Mussolini," Bishop Moore asserted in presenting the case to the conference today. "The church has no right to try a man for his political views."

excess earnings bill, and that it erred in finding the railroad's property valuation.

The suit was filed before U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley in the Eastern District of Illinois.

In the O'Fallon case appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that the Interstate Commerce Commission erred in determining property values, basing earnings computations on prices prevailing from 1910 to 1914. The recapture order went back to the commission for revision of property value figures.

With many of the leading transportation systems today borrowing funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to meet demands at a critical moment in their history, the carriers still face a staggering debt to the Government if the recapture clause is sustained.

The army and navy have asked for more than $100,000,000 each. These demands were cut down after a long struggle between the finance minister on one side and the war and naval ministers on the other.

The Japanese press has expressed alarm over the condition of the national finances. A typical comment is the Osaka Asahi, which said: "It is a shocking condition when the combined military appropriations are $200,000,000 yen—$4,000,000—and the total proceeds of taxation only $92,000,000—$1,840,000."

Tomorrow is Loyalty Day at First Church. The morning service will be broadcast over Station WOL. The vested choir, under the direction of Ruby Smith Stahl, will sing at both services.

Church night supper will be held on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and will be followed by the midweek meeting at 6:45 o'clock. Dr. Stockdale will be in charge and his subject is "Christian Discipleship." The annual Christmas bazaar of the Women's Society will be held all day Wednesday and Thursday in the church parlors. The young men's class will present a three-act play, entitled "The Tinker" on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Sunday School meets at 9:45 a. m. People of all ages will be welcome in their respective departments. Beginners and primary departments meet in the parish house and the junior intermediate in the Sunday School room. The young men's class under the leadership of Martin Schram, meets in the west downstairs room of the parish house. The young women's class meets in the parish house. In the men's class meeting, at 10 a. m. in the east parlor of the church, Dr. Bartlett B. James will discuss the subject "Religion for a Nation." The Women's Bible Class meets in the west parlor with Mrs. E. C. Alford.

The Young People's Society meets tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in the Sunday School room. A one-act play, "Stephen Becomes a Pilgrim," will be presented. The High School Society will meet with the Young People's Society.

Services Tomorrow

The Rev. Godfrey Chobot, the pastor, will preach at the Sixth Presbyterian Church at the 11 a. m. service on "Abiding Things."

At Takoma Park Baptist Church, at the morning service, the pastor, the Rev. William E. LaRue, will give a sermonette to the children, followed by a sermon to the adults. At the evening service, the Rev. Frank S. Niles, pastor of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, will preach.

The Mendelssohn-Bartholdy "Hymn of Praise" will be given at the 8 p. m. service at Calvary Methodist Church by the chorists. The regular church school, assisted by guest artists. At the 11 a. m. service the pastor, the Rev. Vernon M. Ridgely, will preach.

At Brightwood Park M. E. Church at 8 p. m. a Biblical drama will be given under the direction of Mrs. S. Carroll Coole, the wife of the pastor. Dr. John E. Briggs, the pastor, will preach at both services at the Fifth Baptist Church.

At St. Columba's Episcopal Church, the pastor, the Rev. E. A. LeMoine, will preach at the 11 a. m. service, and a special song service and organ recital has been arranged to take the place of the regular service at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. W. L. Darby, secretary of the Federation of Churches, will preach at 11 a. m. at Northminster Presbyterian Church.

Dr. John Compton Ball, the pastor, will preach at both services at the Metropolitan Baptist Church.

At the Ninth Street Christian Church, the pastor, the Rev. Clifford E. Pope, will preach at the 11 a. m. service on "This Grace Also."

"The Human Christ" will be the subject of the sermon that Dr. Henry W. Snyder will preach at 11 a. m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, it being the first of a series of four sermons on phases of the life of Christ.

The Rev. E. Hes Swem, the pastor, will preach at the 11 a. m. service at Centennial Baptist Church.

"An Interview With God" will be the subject chosen for the morning service at Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church.

At the Second Baptist Church, the minister, the Rev. J. L. S. Halloman, will conduct both services.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood Arranges Rededication

Potomac Assembly Will Worship in Cathedral
on Wednesday.

Members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in the Potomac Assembly, which includes parishes and around Washington, will gather on St. Andrew's Day, next Wednesday, at 8 p. m., in the Chapel of the Resurrection at Washington Cathedral, for their annual service of rededication. Plans for the service were announced yesterday by the Rev. Dr. G. Freeland Peter, canon and chancellor of the Cathedral, and the Rev. Dr. Franklin J. Bohanan, rector of Rock Creek Parish and chaplain of the Potomac Assembly.

The charge, or address, will be delivered by the Rev. William R. Moody, dean of the Northern Convocation, comprising Montgomery and part of Prince George's Counties, and chairman of the department of religious education in the Diocese of Washington. One of the youngest men to be selected for this office, the Rev. Mr. Moody has played an important part in the vigorous forward movement of the Episcopal Church now going on in the Northern Convocation. He was elected to the office of chaplain of the convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew at Sewanee, Tenn., in 1931, and had the honor of representing the Diocese of Washington on the Brotherhood pilgrimage to Japan last July. Under the leadership of E. F. Leadbeater and B. Ward Boswell, of Christ Church, Alexandria, and chairman of men and boys from Northern Virginia are expected to join with local members of the brotherhood in the rededication service. The Young People's Fellowship will meet at 8 p. m. when Dr. C. F. Marvin, of the United States Weather Bureau, will be the speaker.

Church Planning St. Andrew's Day

Holy Communion Wednesday
by Rock Creek
Rector.

The services tomorrow at Rock Creek Episcopal Church, Rock Creek Church road and Webster street northwest, include celebration of national corporate Holy Communion for men and boys at 8:30 a. m. and morning prayer at 11 a. m., with sermon by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Franklin J. Bohanan.

On Wednesday, St. Andrew's Day, there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a. m. The Rock Creek senior and junior chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew will join in the national celebration of the forty-ninth anniversary of the fraternity at the rededication service in Washington Cathedral at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Holy Comforter Chapel, Rock Creek Parish, 3714 Georgia avenue, will celebrate Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow and at 10 a. m. on Wednesday. The church also will have morning prayer, choral service, and sermon at 11 a. m. and evening prayer at 7:30 p. m.

"Personal Christ"
Dr. Perkins' Topic

First of Advent Sermons
Will Be Preached
Tomorrow.

"The Personal Christ" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Frederic W. Perkins at the Universalist National Memorial Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. This will be the first of a group of Advent sermons dealing with various aspects of the personality and mission of Christ, leading up to the celebration of the Nativity at Christmas.

The church school will meet at 10:15 a. m., except the adult class which follows the church service at 12:15 p. m. On Tuesday the women of the parish will meet at 10 o'clock for Red Cross sewing. Mrs. F. A. Everts is the chairman of this project. On Thursday at 8 p. m. the board of management will meet in the Romaine-Van Schick room. There will be a meeting of the Boy Scout Troop, under the leadership of Mr. Danov, on Friday at 7:30 in Perkins Hall.

Robins' Conversion Topic of Sermon

Dr. Copenhagen Will Preach
on Official, Long Time Missing.

"The Conversion of Col. Raymond Robins" will be the sermon subject which will be used by Dr. John C. Copenhagen, pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church South, Thirteenth street and North Carolina avenue northeast, tomorrow morning for the 11 o'clock service.

For the evening service at 8 o'clock his sermon topic will be "Turning Down a Banquet." At the morning service a class will be received into church membership. These persons have been brought to the church as a result of the recent Sunday evening evangelistic services, which services will be continued by Dr. Copenhagen. The regular midweek prayer meeting will be held at 9:30 tomorrow morning. Services of the young people's department and the adult group will be held in the church at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

Evangelistic Year Planned by Church

Tomorrow morning at the Central Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Dr. James H. Taylor, will preach on "The Law of the Spirit." In connection with the work of the Southern Presbyterian Church to make the year 1933 an evangelistic year, plans are being formulated in the various churches of Potomac presbytery for personal "evangelistic" training classes and for a series of meetings in many of the churches.

McCartney Topic Based on Knights

Morning Topic Announced
By First-Covenant
Pastor.

Dr. A. J. McCartney, minister of the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, will take as his subject tomorrow morning "When Knights Were Bold," the second of the series in "Soldiers of Christ Arise" sermons about "The Warrior, the Women and the Christ" which will be given by the pastor.

At the mid-week service Thursday evening Dr. McCartney continues with his series of Bible studies from the Book of Acts under the general caption "How the Christian Church Got Its Start." Judge Hugh M. Tate, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will address the All-Come Men's Bible Class tomorrow morning at the church meeting at 9:45 on the subject "Stewardship of Life."

Christian Science Churches

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all the Churches of Christian Science tomorrow. The Golden Text is from I Corinthians 16:13: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies. Deliver me from all mine iniquities, and do not let me come into bondage. For mine enemies are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty." (Psalms 27:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human will is not Science. Human will belongs to the so-called material senses, and its use is to be condemned. Willing the sick to recover is not the metaphysical practice of Christian Science, but is sheer animal magnetism. Human will power may infringe the rights of man. It produces evil continually and is not a factor in the realm of being. Truth, and not corporal will, is the divine power which says to disease, 'Peace, be still!'" (page 144).

At the morning services in Mount Pleasant Church tomorrow, the minister, the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, will preach on "The Modern Man and the Church."

Evangelistic Year Planned by Church

Tomorrow morning at the Central Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Dr. James H. Taylor, will preach on "The Law of the Spirit." In connection with the work of the Southern Presbyterian Church to make the year 1933 an evangelistic year, plans are being formulated in the various churches of Potomac presbytery for personal "evangelistic" training classes and for a series of meetings in many of the churches.

McCartney Topic Based on Knights

Morning Topic Announced
By First-Covenant
Pastor.

Dr. A. J. McCartney, minister of the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church, will take as his subject tomorrow morning "When Knights Were Bold," the second of the series in "Soldiers of Christ Arise" sermons about "The Warrior, the Women and the Christ" which will be given by the pastor.

At the mid-week service Thursday evening Dr. McCartney continues with his series of Bible studies from the Book of Acts under the general caption "How the Christian Church Got Its Start." Judge Hugh M. Tate, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will address the All-Come Men's Bible Class tomorrow morning at the church meeting at 9:45 on the subject "Stewardship of Life."

Christian Science Churches

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all the Churches of Christian Science tomorrow. The Golden Text is from I Corinthians 16:13: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies. Deliver me from all mine iniquities, and do not let me come into bondage. For mine enemies are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty." (Psalms 27:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human will is not Science. Human will belongs to the so-called material senses, and its use is to be condemned. Willing the sick to recover is not the metaphysical practice of Christian Science, but is sheer animal magnetism. Human will power may infringe the rights of man. It produces evil continually and is not a factor in the realm of being. Truth, and not corporal will, is the divine power which says to disease, 'Peace, be still!'" (page 144).

At the morning services in Mount Pleasant Church tomorrow, the minister, the Rev. Russell J. Clinchy, will preach on "The Modern Man and the Church."

ROOSEVELT TO PUT FARM RELIEF FIRST

Will Confer With Delegation of National Grange Today at Warm Springs.

Plans were made for the President elect to confer tomorrow with a delegation from the National Grange, and next week will meet with members

The President-elect did not indicate the nature of the program he plans to discuss with the agricultural committee members. In the campaign he said he hoped the leaders of the Nation's agricultural organizations would get together on a plan to help restore the industry to prosperity. He told newspapermen today he expected to listen to the plan.

The National Grange and that he did not know what they would present.

Grange delegation chosen.

The Grange delegation chosen today at a meeting in Winston-Salem, N. C., and one of the members, Fred J. Freeston, master of the No. 1 York State Grange, whom Mr. Roosevelt had invited to the White House, was elected.

In the same press conference, A. Roosevelt was asked if he had been informed that a delegation was coming from the West to speak in support of recognition of Soviet Russia, he said he had not been told of any such prospective visit and declined to discuss the subject. Close friends of Mr. Roosevelt, however, said they had considerable thought to the matter during the past several months and had discussed it with a number of persons, but with no definite result. He had found a wide division opinion among American industrialists about recognition.

Plative for the conferences with a groundswell of support still are in the formative stage. Mr. Roosevelt said he knew nothing of any plans of members of the House ways and means committee, which is the body charged with revenue-raising legislation, in what category might fall legislation to legalize beer, to come to War Springs for a visit.

James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is to come to War Springs either Sunday night or Monday and former Gov. Cary Hardee of Florida will visit on Tuesday. The committee will have a few days to discuss the manner in which vacancies shall be filled by the executive committee of the state party.

The press conference came at the end of a day that had been almost entirely devoted to rest in the white cottage of the President-elect. Except for a short visit to the hospital grounds for a walk and the regular exercises given to patients of the institution, Roosevelt spent his time reading and resting in the long living room of the cottage with its wide-beamed ceiling and cosy wood fire. There for one or two personal friends he had no callers.

HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY CIRCLES

Ethel Barrymore Is Luncheon Guest at White House.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER had as their luncheon guest yesterday at the White House Miss Ethel Barrymore, who has been appearing in Washington this week.

The Chief Executive and First Lady have as their guests for several days Mrs. Nicholas Brady and Mrs. Edgar Rickard, of New York.

Mrs. Hoover received yesterday afternoon Lady Lindsay, wife of the Ambassador of Great Britain, and Lady Elizabeth Lindsay, niece of the ambassador, who is visiting here.

The Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Tylus Filipowicz, has gone to Chicago to attend the banquet which will be given in his honor by the Polish Society of that city.

Farewells Being Given For Chilean Ambassador.

The Ambassador of Chile, Senor Don Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, who will leave Washington next week to return to Chile to assume the office of minister of foreign affairs, will be much entertained during the next few days before his departure for New York. The news of his leaving comes as a sad surprise to the ambassador's many friends in the capital, who miss the genial statesman, so popular with members of Washington society, young and old.

When the ambassador leaves he will take with him another popular member of society, the First Secretary of the Embassy, Senor Don Oscar Blanco Viel, who will assume duties at the foreign office in Santiago. Mr. Benjamin Cohen, formerly attached to the embassy, will remain in Washington as Charge d'Affaires of Chile until the appointment of a new ambassador.

The Ambassador of Brazil and Mme. de Lima e Silva will entertain at luncheon today in honor of the ambassador, and this evening, Mr. Cohen will give a small dinner for Senor Blanco.

Tomorrow Senor and Senora de Belle Codello will entertain at luncheon at the Mayflower for the ambassador, and that evening Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten will give a dinner in his honor. Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rennett will give an informal buffet supper for Senor Blanco.

Mrs. Mayfield, wife of the former Naval Attaché in Chile, will give a dinner for Senor Blanco on Monday, and on Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gest will entertain at a luncheon for the ambassador. Tuesday evening the Ambassador of Argentina, Senor Felipe Ezpil, will entertain at dinner for Senor Cruchaga.

The Minister of Uruguay and Mme. Varela have with them for the weekend their son, Mr. J. A. Varela.

Egyptian Minister Host To Senora de Sacasa.

The Minister of Egypt, Senor Sidarous Pasha, entertained at dinner last evening at the Legation in honor of Senora de Sacasa, wife of the President-elect of Nicaragua. The guests were Mr. Ahmed Muhar, Turkish Ambassador; Senor Don Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, Chilean Ambassador; Mr. Falk Konitz, Albanian Minister; Mme. van Swinderen, wife of Janhert R. de Swinderen, Netherlands Minister in London; the former Minister of Panama and Senora de Alfaro; Senora de Abell, wife of the former Bolivian Minister; Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten, the Charge d'Affaires of Italy and Marchioness Diana, the Charge d'Affaires of Peru; Mr. Yodoliah Azodi, Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, the Secretary of the Roumanian Legation and Mme. Popovitch, Dr. Josef Nemce, first secretary of the Czechoslovak Legation; Mademoiselle Agnes Claudius, daughter of Senator Salib Claudius Pasha of Egypt; Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Moran, of Boston, and their daughters, Miss Kathleen Moran and Miss Clare Moran; Miss Josephine Hildebrand, Mr. Hussein Chawky, Attaché of the Legation of Egypt, and Mr. Abdel Latouf El-Hennawy.

Senora de Sacasa will be the guest in whose honor Miss Julia Teresa Sheridan will entertain at luncheon today at her home on Twenty-first street.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin will return to Washington Monday from Miami, Fla., where they went, by plane, to spend the Thanksgiving week-end.

The Charge d'Affaires of Nicaragua, Senor Dr. Don Luis Manuel Debayle, entertained last evening for the members of the Pan-American Medical Association, of which he is a member, at the Legation. Among those present were Dr. Victor Alfaro, Dr. Tomas Chabiga, Dr. William Beverly Mason, Surgeon General Cumming, Dr. J. G. Lewis, Dr. William Morgan, Surgeon General of the Navy, Dr. Harvey Schoenfeld, Dr. George Frible, Dr. Charles S. White, Dr. Wallace Yager and Dr. Whittemore.

The Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Frederick H. Payne, who spent Thanksgiving in New York, are remaining here to attend the Army-Navy football game today. They have been joined by their daughter, Miss Carolyn Payne, who is a student at Vassar, and their son, Mr. Groverman Payne, who is at Yale Law School. The Secretary and Mrs. Payne will return to Washington Monday. Miss Payne has been elected a member of the Junior promenade committee at Vassar.

The Secretary of the Polish Em-

To Be Presented Tomorrow

MISS LOUISE TITTMAN, who will be presented to Washington society at a tea to be given by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trowbridge Tittman, tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Stanislaw Masalski, will sail next Saturday aboard the Rex for Europe, where he will join Mme. Masalska and their children for Christmas. Mr. Masalski has been transferred to the foreign office at Warsaw and will be succeeded in the embassy here by Mr. Z. Klimpel, who will assume his duties on January 1.

Col. and Mrs. Tanaka Dinner Hosts to Gen. and Mrs. Matthews. Col. Shiroshi Tanaka, Military Attaché of the Japanese Embassy, and Mme. Tanaka entertained at dinner last evening at the Carlton in honor of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Hugh Matthews. The other guests included Col. Ellis Bell Miller and Mrs. Miller, Capt. Rayne Ellis and Mrs. Ellis, Lieut. Comdr. Hartwell C. Davis and Mrs. Davis, Lieut. Comdr. Donald S. Knowlton and Mrs. Knowlton, and Maj. Ryoosuke Nakanishi, Assistant Military Attaché of the Japanese Embassy, and Capt. Taroichi Aori.

The Attaché of the Polish Embassy, Mr. Jan Tomaszewski, who has been vacationing in Europe since early in October, will return to Washington early next month to resume his duties.

Mr. Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the division of Eastern affairs of the State Department, was among those who entertained informally at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton.

Mr. Edward Wiental, of the Polish Embassy, has returned to the Capital after spending two months in Poland, and has been appointed attaché of the Embassy.

The former Secretary of the Italian Embassy, Nobile Carlo Sordi, sails today on the Augusta for Europe. He will go immediately to Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Denegre, after spending some time in their New Orleans home, have returned to Washington.

Mrs. Morris Ernest Locke, who, since leaving Fort Harbor, Me., where she and Col. Locke spent the summer, has been staying at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Boston, has returned to Washington. Col. and Mrs. Locke are in their R street house for the winter. Mrs. Locke's children, Miss Mary Gibson and Mr. James M. Gibson, are also with them.

Miss Nixon introduced To Society at Tea Dance. Col. Courtland Nixon, U. S. A., and Mrs. Nixon gave a tea dance yesterday afternoon to present their daughter, Miss Marian Nixon, at the Army-Navy Country Club. The club was decorated with autumn flowers.

Mrs. Bailey has been in the United States since the latter part of September, and will sail for England on December 14. Her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Bailey, was Mrs. Tully's guest during part of the summer, having accompanied her on her return to New York in the spring.

Miss Ball Presented At Brilliant Dance.

Miss Elizabeth Ball, of Norfolk, Va., descendant of Mary Ball, mother of George Washington, was presented to society in Washington at a ball given last evening at the Mayflower by her uncle, Mr. William Hobday Noel, also of Norfolk.

Mr. Noel and the debutante received together in the east end of the grand ballroom, the latter looking especially beautiful in a Lucien Lelong gown of white crepe, made with a girle of silver sequins. An arm bouquet of red rosebuds tied with silver ribbon furnished the only color to the ensemble.

Miss Ball was first presented to society in the Capital at the black and white ball given by Mrs. William Laird Dunlap, Jr., earlier in the month at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Julia Gray Ball, mother of the debutante, wore a gown of black jersey crepe made on simple lines with a short train, and her flowers were white gardenias. In addition to Miss Ball's paternal relationship, she is also on her mother's side of the family descended from Gen. Green, an officer on George Washington's staff during the Revolution.

Mr. William Bowie Clarke danced the first dance with Miss Ball following the reception and also escorted her to supper in the Chinese room of the hotel. Many of her favorite songs, including "I Love You Truly," were played by an orchestra during the supper hour.

Among the debutantes present were Miss Mary Lee Bell, Miss Peggy Barker, Miss Edith Bull, Miss Betty A. Burke, Miss Ann Dainingerfeld, Miss Madge Ely, Miss Laura Katherine Field, Miss Helene Fortescue, Miss Virginia Hall, Miss Betty Jones and her sister, Miss Eleanor Jones; Miss Jean Ringman, Miss Helen Manley, Miss Julia Matheson, Miss Helen Mark, Miss Peggy Nixon, Miss Janet Patterson, Miss Margaret Prescott, Miss Marion Shouse, Miss May Bykes, Miss Louise Tittman, Miss Ruth Tuckerman, Miss Louise Tompkins, Miss Emma Tompkins, Miss Helen Tewksbury, Miss Jane Tewksbury, Miss Ethel Mae Taylor, Miss Priscilla Watson and Miss Elizabeth Walker.

Among other girls present were Miss Adele Townsend Jahnske, Miss Maria Sacasa, Miss Elizabeth MacArthur, Miss Carol Grosvener, Miss Louise Harrison Gwynn, Miss Frances Lumma, Miss Natalie Koeney, Miss Peggy Tyner, Miss Rion Fortescue, Miss Brown Knott, Miss Helen Potts, Miss Anne Potts, Miss Margaret Calvert, Miss Eleanor Calvert, Miss Elizabeth Zane, Miss Ruth Bryant, Miss Frances Dunlop, Miss Kathleen Talley, Miss Elizabeth Lyster, Miss Dorothea Lane.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

MUSICALLY, this is one of the most important days on the season's radio calendar. The first of the Philco programs presenting the Philadelphia Orchestra, under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, with Felix Salmond, cellist, and Mme. Lea Lubasch, violinist, as soloists, will be broadcast from 8:15 to 10 o'clock tonight over WJSV.

Stokowski will introduce a decided innovation in broadcasting when for the first time in the history of the Philadelphia Orchestra he introduces the listening public to the instruments and instrumentalists of the symphony organization. The solo instrumentalists of the various sections of the orchestra will demonstrate the tone, range, capacity and function of their respective instruments.

TESTIMONY IN DEATH OF VETERAN CLOSES

Hospital Attendant Denies Beating Patient at Murder Trial.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 25 (A.P.)—The chapter of testimony that the Federal court is writing into history of the Dickinson case, a trial in which Austin Leroy Brown is accused of murder for the death of Charles K. Dickinson, was closed today and the chapter on arguments will be written tomorrow.

Dickinson was a patient in the United States Veterans Hospital here. Brown was an attendant. Dickinson died last month and Brown was charged with murder after physicians said the patient died from pneumonia induced by puncturing of a lung by one of sixteen broken ribs.

Denies Beating Patient.

Brown on the stand today denied repeatedly that he kicked, trampled or choked Dickinson. State's witnesses have testified that Brown kicked the patient after choking him insensate.

Brown said his first indication of trouble was when somebody yelled, "Look out, Brown."

"I looked up to see a man flying through the air from the top of a table," he testified. "He fell on the floor and I saw him knocking me down."

"He hit some chairs behind me with a great crash. When I wiped the blood out of my eyes, I saw Dickinson on the floor struggling with Walter Epps, another attendant."

Reported to Nurse.

"Dickinson was more of a man than I was when he was in one of his insane rages and I had great trouble getting him back to his chair in a corner of the room. When I got him there, I saw Ott (Aaron Ott, another attendant) in one door and Epps in another."

Brown said he reported the affair to the nurse in charge the next day and asked the day nurse if an entry was made on the chart. The nurse, he said, promised to make a report.

Brown said he didn't mention the affair as a fight, but said Dickinson "may have hurt himself in falling on a chair as he jumped on me."

G. E. Leach, a writer and Howell Woodward, three attendants at the hospital, testified Brown's reputation for kindness in handling the patients was good. All said they knew Dickinson as a dangerous man, given to violent outbreaks.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

It is too much to suppose that any Tuesday column might still linger vaguely in memory as late as the following Saturday, at least it will be easily possible to turn the page to Miss Lewis' review of the current bill as the Dickinson case appears on this page, and learn that, charming as the Aber Twins are, Maxine Doyle, nevertheless, was misled from her account of the program as mistress of ceremonies.

It seems meet and proper to drag last Tuesday's column into this business, because we have been intimating that Miss Doyle had been persistently rumored out of the position she had occupied with high credit to herself and the theater for a full two years. Miss Lewis' reference to her absence might serve in some minds as unequivocal corroboration of her severance from the corner of Thirteenth and E streets. Such, however, is not the case.

What has happened is this. Upon the conclusion last Thursday night of her second full year of service at the Earle, Maxine Doyle was sent to New York to take a screen test for Warner Brothers at their Vitaphone studios. The opportunity came unlooked for when a high executive of the firm was in Washington and saw her at the Earle. The whole matter may be speedily concluded, or it may drag out over a period of weeks. The important consideration at the moment is that Maxine Doyle has not severed connections with either the Warner Brothers or the Earle Theater, despite the noise of rumors that have been prevalent to a contrary effect.

In the meantime, the Aber Twins—who, by the way, happen to be bona fide twins—with their dancing violin playing, will assume the duties customarily falling to the lot of Miss Doyle. They number themselves among the numerous proteges of Gus Edwards and have for several seasons been in musical comedy and revue. They are, incidentally, old friends of Maxine's, having all three come from California. All three of them made their entrance into show business on the West Coast in the same group.

So now you know.

It probably is not yet too late to mention that "The Cabin in the Cotton," in which Richard Barthelmess is appearing currently at the Metropolitan, was written for the screen by Paul Green, one of the most able of the young Southern writers, author of "The House of Connelly," presented by the Group Theater at the National last season, and other successful plays.

Or that Arthur Tracy, "the street singer," whom we neglected to mention in our review of the bill now attracting crowds to the Rialto, is the star of one of the best of the short subjects on the Thanksgiving bill at that Ninth street house.

And if you have been wondering all this week where it was you saw Josephine Hull, importantly cast with Ethel Barrymore in "Encores," at the National, on the screen, it was not so long ago as the Friday mother-in-law Fox picturization of "After Tomorrow," the stage play in which she had previously played the same role. Charles Farrell and Marian Nixon were the featured players and Minnie Gombel was hopelessly miscast in the same film.

The thousands who attended Loew's Fox yesterday and saw the screen trailer advertising Jimmy Dunn and Boots Mallory in "Walking Down Broadway" as next week's attraction will be doing themselves a favor to forget it. Late yesterday evening the Loew management received a telegraphic word from the home office in New York that not only was George Raft, Wynne Gibson and dozens of other stars in "If I Had a Million Dollars," supplant "Walking Down Broadway" at the Fox next week, but Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "The Sign of the Cross" also will supplant "Red Dust," costarring Clark Gable and Jean Harlow, at the Palace.

What's the world coming to?

"CALL HER SAVAGE." Fox picturization of the novel by Tiffney Thayer, adapted to the screen by Edwin Burke, starring Clara Bow, with Horace Costello, Gilbert Roland, Willard Robertson, Helene Todd, Estelle Taylor, Vernon Hegnson, Fred Kohler, Anthony Zucchi, Robert Ellis and Kate Verne. Directed by John Francis Dillon. Reviewed by Nelson B. Bell.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Returning to the screen after a protracted period of rest and refreshment—both physical and mental—from the swirling turmoil of Hollywood, Clara Bow, in "Call Her Savage," reveals not so much a new personality and regenerated power as an actress as she does the concrete and tangible advantages of managerial acumen and painstaking care in the preparation of the vehicle of her rehabilitation as a star.

Clara still is not much of an actress—what with her impatient and almost staccato delivery of many of her speeches, her utter lack of mental, if not bodily, repose and an evident consciousness that her public expects her to be a roughneck generally—but she is a far more colorful and alluring creature than the Clara Bow who bid the films good-bye a year or two ago. She has ceased to be the juvenile hoyden and has become the more poised and sinister adult woman—a tomboy grown into a gorgeous, well-groomed and uncontrollable drawing-room tigress.

The film play that Edwin Burke, one of the most expert of the contemporary screenwriters, has fashioned from Tiffney Thayer's tempestuous novel permits the inflammable Miss Bow to revive all of the qualities upon which her film fame is founded, augmented by a few refinements and a sardonic, belated, embellishment of satire and velvet that will bring joy to the heart of the romantically susceptible and awe to those inured to society's pretensions and more conventional preoccupations. As a lady, Nana Springer, the character impersonated by Miss Bow, does not amount to much, as a well-turned-out hell cat she is very elegant, indeed.

"Call Her Savage" is made up of elements that might easily have made her so. The granddaughter of a pioneer, whose moral outlook upon life was inhibited by no scruples whatever, and the daughter of a mother whose sense of marital fidelity was similarly unimpaired, she is a fiery and unmanageable little wildcat, ignorant that half the blood coursing so hotly through her veins was Indian—the point of it all seems to be that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the daughters, as well as the sons, even unto the third and fourth generations.

Hearty, ignoring the tactfulness of her mother, she is incorporated in the story, "Call Her Savage" is a well-nigh perfect medium for the expression of the Bow temperament and personality. It gives her every opportunity to explode in fits of cyclonic temper and to purr seductively, a moment later, in a sardonic, belated, embellishment of satire and velvet that will bring joy to the heart of the romantically susceptible and awe to those inured to society's pretensions and more conventional preoccupations.

Of the supporting players, there are several who justify commendatory adjectives of considerable voltage. Monroe Owsley, who started out as a general sort of young leading man, here furnishes further proof that he is becoming one of the most competent of the "heavies." Gilbert Roland, for once, is wholly likeable and Weldon Heyburn, in his one fleeting appearance, grunts a good deal like the redman he is supposed to be.

Sammy Lewis, of the team of Lewis and Moore, at Loew's Fox, is a brother of Goldie Ahearn, former feather-weight champion of the A. E. F., local haberdasher, handler of boxes and rascally impresario, on rainy nights only. The family handle is Goldstein, which, as anyone can see, looks just as much like Ahearn as it does like Lewis!

Well, how is the old indignation by this time, I hope.

Right Swing to Teeth Spoils Knife Holdup

When his fare pulled a knife and ordered him to hand over his money, Ramon Minette, 25, 1477 Newton street northwest, a taxicab driver, responded with a right to his teeth. The would-be holdup man was taken to the hospital for treatment, and subsequently lodged in jail.

Minette said the man who described himself as Robert Wesley Carr, 214 Eleventh street southeast, entered his cab at Ninth street and New York avenue and told him to drive to 1438 Benning road northeast. The driver, the man told him, had not gone far enough, to drive on. Suddenly the man drew a knife, and made the unsuccessful attempt to rob him.

Tomorrow Is Deadline For Slogan Contest

Come on, you believers in America. Last night in the first slogan for America for 1933 Contest sounds tomorrow night at midnight. Send in your slogan which is to lead America out of the slough of depression into the land of prosperity. Make it short and snappy.

"The Conquerors," now showing at RKO-Keith's Theater, exemplifies the fighting spirit that will not admit defeat. Any one except employees of The Post or of RKO-Keith's and their families may send in a slogan.

First prize will be $25; second will be $15; third, $10, with additional prizes of ten sets of tickets to RKO-Keith's. All entries must be under the wire before midnight tomorrow. Winners will be announced Tuesday in "The Post." Address communications to "The Conquerors Editor," care of The Washington Post.

But, of course, they are golf clubs. For this, ladies and gentlemen, is Alex Morrison, master of difficult and trick golf shots, as the artist caught him while contributing his skill to the vaudeville portion of the current bill at Loew's Fox Theater.

"THE GOLDEN WEST." Fox picturization of the novel by George O'Brien, featuring George O'Brien, Janet Clayton, Marion Burns and Bert Wilson, with Arthur Peterson, Olan Sorenson, Dorothy Foy, and John Harrington. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Reviewed by Nelson B. Bell.

This picture is being advertised as a treat for the entire family and we do not hesitate to agree with the management—and our tongue is not in our cheek, either.

Moviedom is not going to let us forget the struggle of our hardy pioneering ancestors to cut a path through to the West so that the Iron Horse could more quickly carry people and supplies toward the Golden Gate. However, they seem to relish the old-time feuds of the South which we would like to forget. But the most pleasant remembrance of the past was the small, traveling department store, the manager of which is generally portrayed by a gentleman of French extraction. The bright lights of "The Golden West" is this same gentleman, who in real life is Bert Hanlon.

You're wondering no doubt, how railroad construction and Southern feuds are blended in this story. Well, Betty falls in love with David. But a feud exists between the two families. Now the folks give a masquerade party for her and comes dressed up like a captain of the Light Horse Brigade? You're right. What happens? The drunken David is mistaken for a Southern aristocrat. Does David jump through the window and escape, leaving in his wake a crowd of sprawling Southern gentlemen? He does, but not before he kills the proud aristocrat who unloosely grunts a good deal like the redman he is supposed to be. He wouldn't have gotten to the court-house.

David joins up with Mr. Epstein and goes West. They join a long, lumbering train of prairie schooners—that is, after David evades a pack of bloodhounds and a posse in order to get back to Betty's home where he climbs up the well-known vines under the oft-seen window to kiss his darling girl. Twenty years later heep big Indian chief says white man steal his land, kill his buffalo. Indian must annihilate white man and destroy big smoke-belching monster. Meantime Betty, now dead, had married Calvin Brown, a young man, who is now a big shot out in these parts. He has a beautiful daughter, Betty, who is captured by Motano, the big white chief. Did the Indians blot out the white railroad builders? Right again. And who helped the U. P. railroad construction gang to break down the Indian attack? Correct! Who appears in the last scene and what are they doing? That's splendid.

You may know the answers but you will be surprised how well done are many parts of this tale of Southern and Western adventure. George O'Brien is a better Southern than transplanted Indian brave. Janet Clayton and Marion Burns have their bright moments.

The audience seemed to enjoy especially Charlie Chaplin, in an old comedy called "The Cure."

A Flip the Frog cartoon, "Phoney Express," and a new Paramount News concluded the bill.

SMOOT SEES EARLY TROOPS GUARD MINE

Opponents of Legislation Begin Preparations for Finish Fight. Dynamiting and Terrorism in Tennessee Bring Out 200 Guardsmen.

(Associated Press.)

Belief that Philippine independence would be approved by Congress before or soon after Christmas was expressed yesterday by Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, as opponents of the legislation began preparations for a finish fight.

Although reserving a definite commitment until he sees the bill in its final form, the veteran Utah senator said he thought he would vote to free the islands which America acquired after the Spanish-American War.

Meanwhile, Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, was understood to be preparing a lengthy speech in opposition, and organized groups such as the American Farm Bureau Federation are ready to add their voices to a "no" chorus unless the proposed transition period, during which the islands would be under American rule, is shortened.

Under an agreement last session, the Senate will take up the Haves-Cuttings measure on December 8, three days after the short session convenes.

Hoover's Course in Doubt.

If this bill of one similar to it is passed it would go immediately to conference for adjustment of differences with the Hare bill approved by the House last session, 306 to 47.

No one in authority would predict yesterday what action President Hoover might take on an independence bill. Secretary Hurley, who walked out of a Senate committee hearing last session after a verbal clash over independence with Senator King (Democrat), Utah, reported to the President after visiting the islands, that the Filipinos were not ready to assume self-government.

Differences exist not only between proponents and opponents of the legislation, but within the former group itself. For one thing, it has not been able to agree on a time when full economic and political independence should be granted.

The bill passed by the House would grant independence in eight years and meanwhile place limitations on free imports up until the time full freedom is granted. The Senate bill fixes the transition period at 18 years and provides for an island plebiscite at the end of that time on whether the Filipinos, themselves, want to relinquish their American control.

Favors Revised House Bill.

Chester Gray, legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said yesterday that neither bill was satisfactory, but the House bill would be preferred if the transition period is changed to five instead of eight years.

"The pending Senate bill is unsatisfactory to the Farm Bureau for three reasons," Gray said, "the time to grant independence is about 1950. A plebiscite is provided at the end of that period and economic conditions would be all nervous and unsettled. The Filipinos and the United States would be in a state of transition throughout the period."

"Therefore, the time must be brought down to five years and gradual termination of duty free Philippine imports provided."

Advocates Delay in Action.

"It would be better for both from the standpoint of the Filipinos and American agriculture to postpone legislation until the next Congress rather than have the Senate bill pass. In the new Congress we could completely rewrite the bill in committee, while in this Congress it would have to be amended from the floor, and that would be difficult."

Opposing the plebiscite provision, Gray said the Filipinos already have voted three times to elect delegates to a constitutional convention, to approve a constitution and to set up offices for self-government, and it would be useless again at the end of the period.

Meanwhile, he added, American capital would obtain a "stranglehold" on the island, and in 20 years the Filipinos themselves would be opposed to independence.

Arlington Will Extend Red Cross Roll Call

The Red Cross membership roll call in Arlington County will be extended to December 1 to enable many who have not yet done so to renew their membership, according to Chairman George A. Cole. The enrollment to date is below that of last year.

Many requests for clothing, food and emergency relief are already coming to the local chapter and unless there is a generous response funds will not be sufficient to carry the relief work through the winter, Mr. Collier declared.

Burglars Get $121 in Clothing.

Erasto Villa, of 1909 Nineteenth street northwest, yesterday told police that thieves broke into his home and escaped with clothing valued at $121.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 25 (U. P.).—The Greatest football coaching record in the country belongs to Maj. Robert R. Neyland of Tennessee.

His teams have played 67 games in which they won 60, lost two and tied five for a winning average of .967. No coach or team in the entire country can approach that record, much less match it, and Tennessee's record is shared by only one other team in Tennessee in 1925 as commander of the school's R. O. T. C. unit and was drafted as back field coach under M. D. Banks.

At the beginning of the 1926 season, he directed the next year, and Maj. Neyland stepped into the head coach's job.

One of the first things Maj. Neyland did was to bring back his coach to send for his two West Point cronies and former teammates, Col.

B. P. Parker and M. J. William H. Paulton, for assistance. That trio has consistently turned out one of the greatest teams in the South over a career of years. Col. Parker is now athletic director.

Oddly enough, Tennessee has never won the Southern football title under Neyland. Twice less with Kentucky as the champion.

This year's 9-0 tie with Vanderbilt prevents the Volunteers from claiming equal ranking with Auburn, unbeaten and untied.

Western other sections of the country may look with skepticism upon Tennessee's unparalleled seven-year record because the Volunteers have constructed their own stadium only once. That was last season when Tennessee traveled to New York, U. and gave the Easterners their worst defeat of the season, 13-0. But tracted football duties. Today, by an agreement of counsel, McEwan's application for a preliminary injunction was discontinued by Judge Winfred H. Whiting, who ordered pleadings in the case to be ready before December 12, when the case will be given a court hearing.

In vacating McEwan's injunction plea, Judge Whiting explained that neither party in the case desired to do anything that would interfere with tomorrow's game and that too many persons were involved to permit the completion of the hearing today.

Stocks Follow Commodities In March to Lower Ground

Six-Tenths Decline Recorded as Sales Volume Totals 1,005,860 Shares.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—American commodity markets were chilled by weakness of the British pound today, and stocks reacted in sympathy. Professionals stayed with the sell-side, where they had stood on Wednesday, until the late trading, when some recovery took place and extreme 1-to-3 point losses were considerably reduced. Exchanges at 1,005,860 shares was about 200,000 under that of the previous session.

Wall street's study of the war debt picture over the holiday apparently did little to remove previously existing obscurities, nor was much better light provided by the day's developments during market hours. The descent of sterling was hardly inspiring, nor did the action of commodities, which seemed to reflect speculative expectations of a still lower pound with its possible effect on world prices, help dispel recent uncertainty. Silver was tarnished by heavy selling of futures, which made new lows for this market; the spot quotation was of moderate firmness.

The closing advance in stocks, while sufficient to reduce the average net loss to six-tenths of a point, was ascribed to repurchases by the short interest on the strength of wheat's late recovery. Rail shares, however, were fairly steady even against the downward tide in the morning and several carriers made net gains. Wall street anticipates a rise of around 30,000 cars in tomorrow's loadings report, for last week.

United States Steel, after losing a point, closed unchanged. American Telephone halved a drop of something more than 2. Corn Products, Coca Cola, Case, American Tobacco and Standard Oil of New Jersey lost 1 to nearly 3, the last named being adversely affected by a dividend cut. American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, General Motors, Montgomery Ward and Consolidated Gas were down less than a point. Homestake, McIntyre Petroleum and Alaska Juneau flourished on the weakness of sterling. Many preferred stocks advanced, the United States Steel issues selling under 70.

Effects of early Christmas shopping were noted by Department stores, which said pre-Thanksgiving trade had been "in unexpectedly good volume." As for general business activity, gains have been maintained "but current progress is somewhat more irregular, although it is more widely distributed. Bradstreet's saw business entering a critical period, finding that the weakness of sterling, which had been in the market since the early part of the year, was now being felt in the clothing and textile industries. It said, "which is responsible for the stagnation of the heavy industries."

Pacific Coast Butter and Egg Values Are Up $90,000,000

Foreign Issues Turn Dull as Sterling Drops Lowest Since 1920 Level.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Foreign war loan clouds again drifted over the bond market today, and prices generally displayed a receding tendency. Semi-speculative issues and some foreign loans were the principal sufferers. At the same time the highest grade investment bonds of all categories were steady to firm.

While the European picture, so far as December 15 loan payments are concerned, was somewhat spotty, the domestic scene was not altogether clear. There were indications that tomorrow's report on freight car loadings would show a substantial increase in steel production, apparently was sagging and weekly trading reviews were not unanimous regarding business conditions.

Broods of Great Britain, Canada and Australia were particularly heavy, as the pound sterling slumped to its lowest level since 1920. British 5½s dropped below 100 for the first time in several months, but rallied later for a loss of only 1½ points. Canadian 4½s lost 3½ points, Australian 5½s were off 1 point, Queensland 5½s were 2 to 3½ points lower and both New South Wales 5½s and Victoria 5½s 8½ points. Loans of Germany, Belgium, Finland, Poland and Cuba declined a point or more.

Domestic rail securities failed to cheer up on car-loading predictions and some issues of 2 or more points were registered by some issues of Baltimore and Ohio, all of the Canadian lines, Chesapeake & Ohio, Burlington, Chicago Great Western, Rock Island, Delaware & Hudson, Denver & Rio Grande, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific.

Among the utilities and industrial, a firm tone was displayed by bonds of American Telephone, Brooklyn Edison, Duquesne Light, Goodrich, Goodyear, Hudson Coal, Montana Power, New England Telephone, Pure Oil, Sinclair, Pressed Steel Car and Remington Arms. The principal losses included loans of International Telephone, American Telephone and Foreign, Federal Light & Traction, International Cement, New Orleans Power, Studebaker, Vanadium and Western Union.

United States Treasury bonds were only moderately active and fractionally higher, while Liberty 3½s and First 4½s eased. A heavier turnover in the foreign

San Francisco, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Being a "butter and egg man" on the Pacific Coast carries some of its old meaning today. Prices that have gone up swiftly in the last week, on top of previous gradual gains, spelled benefits above the year's low levels of nearly $90,000,000 on an annual basis.

Market prices are at the year's top all along the Coast. Portland quotations were the last to come into line with a jump of 5 cents a pound for butter yesterday, making it 30 cents a pound, wholesale, for best quality. Benefits for California, Oregon and Washington were calculated on the basis of production estimates furnished by F. H. McCampbell, of the Federal Department of Agriculture. He used 1931 records as approximate indicators of this year's output. San Francisco prices, typical of the coast markets, were taken as a measure of income savings.

Butter rose from a low of 17½ cents a pound to 29 cents, and eggs from 15½ cents a dozen to 25½ cents for the large size. The butter advance of 11½ cents was applied to 350,000,000 pounds of butter, the estimated product of 280,000,000 pounds of butter fat. This made $40,250,000, 000. Eggs rose 20 cents a dozen and on 234,000,000 dozen added $46,800,000 on an annual basis.

Whether the benefits actually amount to the computed total within a year depends, of course, on whether the advance is maintained. No forecast of the future price movement has been attempted in market circles. It has been pointed out, however, that the advances of late returns that give them some profit over production costs.

The significant thing about the current situation, McCampbell said, was that producers are getting returns that give them some profit over production costs.

Loans to brokers Mount $6,000,000

New Car Purchase Cut 17.8 Week's Advances Total Per Cent; Used Vehicles $350,000,000; Under 1931 Period.

Chicago, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Automobile sales in the Middle West during October were considerably smaller than a year ago and also declined from the September totals. Sales of new cars at wholesale were 564 less than in September, 69 per cent less than a year ago.

New car sales dropped 17.8 from September and 43 per cent from a year ago. Inventories of cars sold in October, 1931, while shipments gained 10 per cent this year against a loss of 4 per cent a year ago. Operations averaged 41 per cent of capacity, two points under September and six points under the rate maintained in October, 1931.

Dried Fruits Unchanged. New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Dried fruits steady. Unchanged.

section brought total sales to $6,233,000, par value. The average for 90 domestic corporate bonds declined two-tenths of a point.

Bank Suspensions Drop To 10 During Past Week

There were ten bank suspensions during the past week compared with eighteen in the previous week, the "American Banker" reported today. This stands as the smallest number of closings for any week in November. Five newly chartered banks opened for business during the week.

In the year to date 1,296 banks suspended compared with 1,866 in the corresponding period of 1931.

Wheat Closes Nervous. Chicago, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Staggered temporarily by collapse of British exchange rates, wheat plunged today to prices never heretofore reached in the history of any organized grain exchange.

A complete recovery of wheat values followed, however, when a wild rush of selling that took place at the start was ended. After reaching the new bottom price record, 41½ cents a bushel for December contracts, wheat trading suddenly came almost to a standstill, and then the market slowly climbed back in meager degrees to where it was before Thanksgiving.

Developments regarding European efforts for reduction of war-debt payments to the United States were generally taken here as chiefly responsible for the action of British exchange and for the hurried selling of wheat and other grains.

Wheat Closes Nervous. Wheat closed nervous at a slight reaction from the day's top, unchanged to ¼ to ½ cent Wednesday's final prices were 41½ to 42½, ¼ to ½ cent, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

Demoralization of prices quoted for the British pound sterling had preceded the concerted action of war-debt wheat trade here, and brokers in the wheat pit were overwhelmed with orders to sell out and stop losses. Buyers were usually scarce and the market underwent a vertical fall of 1½ cents below Wednesday's latest figures, breaking the all-time bottom record by ½ of a cent. The wave of selling, however, was not so much of a shock as it seemed, as it was a continuation of a trend that had been in progress since the outbreak of the war.

Contributing to the transient weakness of wheat values, which accompanied more than 8 cents' break in British exchange rates, was a forecast in twelve years, were cable advices of greatly enlarged wheat shipments from Australia and Argentina. Another unsettling factor was noted taken of proposed new price-fixing measures at Washington. On the other hand, houses with export connections became buyers here of wheat, and another strengthening factor was renewal of unfavorable reports concerning the crop outlook for United States winter wheat.

Corn and oats were governed by wheat action. Eastern demand for wheat was relatively slow. Provisions gave way with grains despite upturn in hog values.

COTTON PRICES CUT NEW LOW LEVEL

March Closes at 5.94 as General Market Sinks
11 to 14 Points.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Cotton reached new low records for the season today under continued liquidation and scattered selling.

Offerings were stimulated by relatively easy Liverpool cables and the insurance of December contracts. March contracts broke to 5.86, making a decline of nearly 20 cents a bale from the high price of last August, and after a rally of 10 points from the lows, closed at 5.94, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 11 to 14 points.

The opening was a 4 to 8 points lower. Circulation of December contracts, estimated at about 40,000 bales, brought out a good deal of liquidation, and the market soon eased, with active months selling about 20 to 21 points net lower.

This decline carried December to 5.71 and May to 5.98, but both foreign and domestic trade buying became more active at the lower levels and proved sufficient to steady the market during the later trading.

However, rallies of 10 to 14 points from the lowest were not fully maintained, as they met heavy liquidation, with December closing at 5.76, May at 6.03, or about 5 to 9 points up from the lowest.

December liquidation was again largely in the form of exchange and without much change in the difference between the two were rumors that notices of December were stopped by interests which had stopped cotton on July and October for shipment abroad. The increased trade buying here was attributed to price fixing, and a report from the South Atlantic said that the report demand was good at a high basis.

Liverpool cables reported continued demand and Indian selling in the market, and reported a falling off in the inquiry for cotton goods in Manchester. Exports today, 28,500, making 2,871,018 so far this season. Port receipts, 65,928. U. S. port stocks, 4,809,205.

Cotton seed oil closely steady. Prime summer yellow, 2.87; prime winter, 2.87; December, 3.07; June, 3.22; March, 3.35; May, 3.37; June, 3.39. Sales 9 contracts.

R. C. A. Building to Get Air-Cooling System

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Rockefeller Center, Inc. announced today it had awarded a contract involving more than $1,000,000 and providing for the installation of an air-conditioning system in the R. C. A. Building, to the Carrier Engineering Corporation.

The R. C. A. Building is a 70-story structure in the center of the new "radio city" development. During the summer the refrigeration system of the system will equal 3,000,000 pounds of melting ice a day, or equivalent, the announcement said, to the summertime consumption of a city the size of Washington, D. C.

STANDARD BRANDS REDUCES Dividend on Common to $1 From $1.20.

New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Illinois Central Railroad system had October net operating income of $2,230,000 compared with $1,897,744 in the same month of 1931.

Southern Pacific Co. today reported October net operating income of $1,864,025 compared with $2,898,563 in October, 1931.

Other roads reporting today, with 1931 comparisons, included:

| Road              | 1932        | 1931        |
|-------------------|-------------|-------------|
| New Haven         | $1,133,045 | $1,778,432 |

Directors of Standard Brands, Inc. today reduced the annual common stock dividend to $1 from $1.20 by sharing a disbursement of 25 cents a share payable January 3 to stock of record December 31.

Joseph Wilshire, president, said common stock earnings for the third quarter were approximately 24 1/2 cents a share and for the first nine months 85 cents. Third quarter results are normally the year's lowest.

The reduction of the dividend, he asserted, "was considered a conservative measure and to be at a rate well within the estimated earnings for the fourth quarter."

Copper Offered at 5.35.
New York, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Copper was being offered in Europe today at the equivalent of 5.35 cents a pound, against quotations of 5.40 to 5.45 cents earlier this week. There was no change in the domestic price.

MANAGER BANKERS EXPANDING WASHINGTON OFFICE

Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider Quarters to Be Among Largest in Capital.

By THOMAS M. CAMILL.
The new Washington office of Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider in the Southern Building will include the combined space of premises formerly occupied by Harris & Ewins, 807 Fifteenth Street Northwest, and the new office at 1430 K Street Northwest.

The partition between these offices has been removed and the interior remodeled and richly furnished as the new, spacious brokerage department of Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider. All modern facilities for conferences including private offices and conference rooms.

Up-to-the-minute quotations on New York Stock Exchange and curb stocks, New York bank stocks, wheat, oats, rye, cotton, rail, sugar, coffee, rubber will be posted on a large board.

Personnel of the local office of Fenner, Beane & Ungerleider includes John D. Motherhead, manager; John D. Motherhead, assistant manager; Henry Shepherd, H. Kennerly, Robert K. Carpenter, John M. Wilbur, Bowman McArthur and Claude H. Cramer, all of whom are now in charge of the investment department.

Employment in manufacturing industry will pass the levels of a year ago by late December or early January if present trends are continued, according to a study recently completed by Investors Syndicate with local offices.

Abrupt declines last year, according to Department of Labor figures, brought the level down to an index figure of 65 at the year end. The index, however, is coming a long way to be established from present level.

Public Trustee, a figure below 55 in July, which will cause the level to break through and exceed the level of a year ago, sometime in late '32 or early '33.

This is no mere statistical coincidence, but has basic reasons behind it, according to Investors Syndicate. It is felt that while the upturn may not continue at quite the same rate as now proceeds, due to seasonal factors, a sufficient economic force has been generated to cause 1931 employment levels to be passed by the time indicated.

Power Co. of Potomac Electric Inc. for October amounted to $371,064.94, the company statement reveals. This represents an increase of $12,191.83 over that for October, 1931.

For the ten months, it is $3,660,865.12, as against $3,608,118.10 for the same period last year. The statement of Washington Electric Co. shows for October a net income of $1,851.46, 141.31 in the month of last year. Net income for the ten months is $18,706.15, as against $1,562,454.68 for the first ten months of 1931.

New Gasoline Pipe Line
Planned to Kansas City
Kansas City, Nov. 25 (A.P.)—Construction of a gasoline pipe line from Augusta, Kans., to Kansas City, and possibly farther East, is under consideration by the White Eagle Oil Co. of the company, an Irwin, president of the company, is under consideration.

"Reports that we are ready to lay the pipe line are premature," Mr. Irwin said. "It is true, however, that we are studying the matter and construction data. It has not yet been decided to what point the line will be extended, if it is eventually to be constructed."

The White Eagle Oil Co., a subsidiary of Socony-Vacuum Corporation, owns and operates a 15,000-barrel gasoline refinery at Augusta.

U. S. CONTRIBUTIONS TO SOUTH AMERICAN PROGRESS OUTLINED

National Geographic Society
Hears Maj. Sawders' Talk on Travels.

The contribution of American engineers and capital toward the upbuilding of railroads, oil fields and mines in South America was described to members of the National Geographic Society last night at the Washington Auditorium by Maj. James Sawders.

Maj. Sawders started his travels at Guayaquil, Ecuador, once the "pest hole" of yellow fever on the Ecuador coast, but which today, through the efforts to the Rockefeller Foundation and the efforts of modern city planning, has made a modern city.

Although Quito, the capital of Ecuador, lies 14 miles from the equator, its high altitude tempers the atmosphere so that its climate is delightful to our white Indians of the mountain regions of Ecuador, he pointed out, have refused to change many of their customs. He explained how, when they meet, they sit down in the middle of the road and are unmoved by traffic. Also they prefer to sell their wares on the city sidewalks rather than in the modern markets built for them.

Maj. Sawders showed many slides of Lima, the capital of Peru, outstanding among which was the second largest church in the Western Hemisphere which contained the remains of Pizarro, the conqueror of Peru.

The Chaco dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia was at its height when Maj. Sawdars was in La Paz, Bolivia. The great crowds cried for war, newspaper bulletin boards had thousands of eyes focused upon them for the latest developments of the impending disturbance, and when the legislators refused to vote war the

Maj. Sawders' remarks were illustrated by colored slides and motion pictures. Outstanding among the were numerous views of Machu Picchu, the old Inca fortress.

of the city's churches during the week preceding Christmas, with a group of outstanding church players of the Capital taking part in the series.

Last year this committee, which under the chairmanship of Beasly Schreiner, gave a reading of Lawrence Houseman's "Bethlehem" several churches of this city and Alexandria, and early this autumn the same committee presented "The Story of Ruth" at the National Story Theater in the Washington Monument grounds.
